The chart displays the projected population aged 65 and over in the United Kingdom from 1950 to 2070. The x-axis represents years in 5-year increments. The y-axis represents the number of people in millions, ranging from 0 to 10. The bars are stacked with different colors representing different components of the population, though the specific categories are not labeled in the legend. The population remains very low until the mid-1970s, then begins a steady climb. A significant acceleration is seen after 2015, with the population projected to exceed 10 million by 2070.
